As an Affiliated Member of UN Tourism, whose mission is to promote reliable, sustainable, and universally accessible Tourism, Skål International created the Sustainable Tourism Awards following the United Nations declaration of 2002, to spotlight best practices globally.

Skål International has adopted the UN Tourism Global Code of Ethics in Tourism and supports the ST-EP initiative (Sustainable Tourism-Eliminating Poverty).

Galileo.it is preparing a project on "Education for Respectful and Regenerative Travel" to develop a training programme that equips educators and travel organisers with practical tools to train travellers on eco-conscious behaviours and to integrate regenerative tourism principles into their pre-trip activities.

Icelandic and Spanish geoparks and tour operators and schools will be involved.
